Lorraine is the director of Fair Lending/Fair & Responsible Banking at Saltmarsh, Cleaveland & Gund. With over 30 years of expertise in the financial services industry, Lorraine has worked across small, mid-size, and large financial institutions in internal audit and compliance. During her career, she has served as an internal consultant providing a common-sense approach to regulatory change management, policy and procedures, product reviews, fair lending and redlining analysis, merger and acquisition due diligence, and risk assessments. Lorraine has handled regulatory relations and assisted examinations conducted by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), Federal Reserve Board (FRB), and Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB).

Lorraine thrives on collaboration and is driven by seeing leaders excel in their fields. She is passionate about sharing best practices and helping organizations navigate the ever-changing complexities of the regulatory risk environment. Her favorite fundamental is Invest in Relationships because she believes that building strong connections with co-workers and business partners fosters learning and creates an environment where ideas can be shared to develop meaningful solutions.
