Claudia is a managing director in the Healthcare Consulting department of Saltmarsh, Cleaveland & Gund. She has more than 25 years of specialized experience serving the healthcare industry, with clients representing skilled nursing facilities, hospital-based transitional care units, rehab centers, hospices, home health agencies and continuing care retirement communities throughout the U.S. Claudia's primary areas of expertise include Medicare and Medicaid cost reporting, acquisition analysis, Certificate of Need applications, Proof of Financial Ability preparation, Medicare appeal representation, regulatory compliance evaluations, and billing consulting, as well as litigation support in complex regulatory matters such as medical record audits, Compliance Plan activities, governmental investigations and Qui Tam whistleblower defense cases. She previously managed her own accounting and consulting practice Reingruber & Company, P.A. since 1991 in St. Petersburg, Florida, before merging with Saltmarsh in March 2017.

Claudia is nationally recognized for her expertise in the post-acute healthcare arena, with a particular concentration on the clinical side. She is a regular presenter at industry conferences and seminars, covering a wide variety of topics relating to the long term care industry, to clients as well as to various organizations, including the Florida Health Care Association and the Tennessee Health Care Association.
